I. BACKGROUND AND NEED

On March 4, 2019, PR 23-164, the “Historic Preservation Review Board Outerbridge Horsey Confirmation Approval Resolution of 2019” was introduced by Chairman Mendelson at the request of the Mayor. The purpose of PR 23-164 is to confirm the re-appointment of Mr. Outerbridge Horsey as a public member of the Historic Preservation Review Board (the Board) for a term to expire July 21, 2022. Mr. Horsey is a Ward 2 resident.

Mr. Horsey is an architect with years of civic engagement, and owner of Outerbridge Horsey Associates, PLLC, a DC Certified Small Business Enterprise.¹ He earned his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Architecture from the University of Pennsylvania. He holds professional architectural licenses in the District of Columbia, Maryland, and Virginia. Mr. Horsey is also a native Washingtonian.

Since 1988, Mr. Horsey's design firm, Outerbridge Horsey Associates, has provided architectural services to residential, institutional, and commercial clients. In his testimony before the Committee at the May 2, 2019 roundtable on PR 23-164, Mr. Horsey described "many of the firm's projects [that] have been directly associated with historic buildings and contexts" such as the Georgetown University Alumni House, the Volta Building, the Dupont Renaissance Condominiums, and the Dumbarton House Museum.² Additionally, Mr. Horsey has taken the lead on several award winning residential projects, including Myrtle Grove in Talbot County, Maryland and 40 Division Street in Newport, Rhode Island. As an architect, Mr. Horsey has presented before the HPRB several times as well as before numerous other historic review boards.³

In 1992, Mr. Horsey, along with two other partners, produced the Map of Georgetown, a 4-color offset-lithograph, limited edition print, which was hand drawn using aerial photographs and highlighted Georgetown's 11 national historic landmarks.⁴ Mr. Horsey is currently a member of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) as well as a DC AIA member. Mr. Horsey's breadth of architectural design and historic preservation experience will enable him to make thoughtful contributions as a Board member.

Further, Mr. Horsey has demonstrated his commitment to public service in the District over the past several decades. He was the first President of the Board of Directors of the Georgetown Ministry Center, a nonprofit group dedicated to serving the homeless in and around Georgetown. Mr. Horsey also served on the Hurt Home Advisory Board for emotionally disturbed DC youths for several years in the early 1990s. He has been active for many years in the Citizens Association of Georgetown, serving on its Board and as a member of its Historic Preservation and Zoning Committee. For the past five years, Mr. Horsey has served as a trustee of the Foundation for the Preservation of Historic Georgetown, which holds over 100 open space conservation and historic façade easements.⁵ In 2016, Mr. Horsey was appointed to the HPRB for a three-year term as a public member.

The Historic Preservation Review Board was created by the "Historic Landmark and Historic District Protection Act of 1978" (District Act).⁶ This law includes a section declaring the purposes behind the legislation, which include: to protect and enhance landmarks and districts "which represent distinctive elements of the city's cultural, social, economic, political, and architectural history," to in turn "[s]afeguard the city's historic, aesthetic and cultural heritage," in order to foster civic pride in the history of the city, to enhance and perpetuate tourism, to bolster the economy, and to generally promote the use of the District's landmarks and historic districts "for the education, pleasure, and welfare of the people" of the city.⁷

The Board is composed of nine members appointed by the Mayor after confirmation by the Council.⁸ The District Act requires that the Board shall be constituted and its members qualified in order to comply with the requirements for a State Review Board pursuant to the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (federal Act) and federal regulations.⁹ The federal Act was enacted in 1966 as a response to the destruction of older buildings and neighborhoods following World War II and to preserve the history and heritage of the nation.¹⁰ With the federal law, a national framework was established that linked national with local historic preservation efforts, creating historic preservation offices in the states and the District, expanding the National Register of Historic Places to include state and local properties, and making preservation grants available to the states.¹¹

The federal regulations for State Review Boards require that all Board members have “demonstrated competence, interest, or knowledge in historic preservation.”¹² Additionally, a majority of the members must meet the “Secretary of the Interior’s (Historic Preservation) Professional Qualification Standards.”¹³ The Secretary’s Standards specify professional qualifications for the disciplines of history, archeology, architectural history, architecture, and historic architecture. The members of the Board subject to the Standards must include, at a minimum, one individual meeting the Standards for history, one meeting the Standards for prehistoric archeology or historic archeology, and one meeting the Standards for architectural history.¹⁴ The remaining members of the Board subject to the Standards may represent any of the described disciplines.¹⁵

Mr. Horsey is nominated for re-appointment as a public member of the Board. As discussed in Table 2 below, there are a number of qualifications required for a Board member specializing in a certain area, but not for public members. The regulations discussed above do require demonstrated competence, interest or knowledge in historic preservation. In his testimony, Mr. Horsey notes that he meets the Secretary of the Interior's Historic Preservation Professional Qualification Standards for Historic Architecture.¹⁶ Mr. Horsey meets that requirement given his experience with historic preservation in architectural design, as well as his demonstrated dedication to historic preservation in his community and elsewhere.

D.C. Law 21-144 specifies that all appointments to the Board: "...shall be made with a view toward having its membership represent to the greatest practicable extent the composition of the adult population of the District of Columbia with regard to race, sex, geographic distribution and other demographic characteristics."¹⁷ Each member serves a term of three years, and terms are staggered so that one-third of the appointments expire each year.¹⁸ Mr. Horsey's nomination by the Mayor for appointment is for a term to end July 21, 2022.

The duties of the Board include:

- Advising the Mayor on whether proposed demolitions, alterations, subdivisions, and new construction affecting historic properties in the District are compatible with the Historic Landmark and Historic District Protection Act of 1978 (D.C. Law 2-144; D.C. Official Code § 6-1101 et seq.);
- Designating and maintaining a current inventory of historic landmarks and historic districts;
- Performing the functions and duties of a State Review Board pursuant to D.C. Law 2-144 and the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.);
- Acting on referrals from the Foreign Missions Board of Zoning Adjustment relating to the demolition, alteration, or new construction of foreign missions, chanceries, and international organizations located in historic districts or that are historic landmarks, pursuant to the Foreign Missions Act (22 U.S.C. § 4306); and
- Other functions and duties relating to the "protection, preservation, enhancement and perpetuation of the historic, architectural, cultural and aesthetic heritage" of the District as assigned by the Mayor.¹⁹

Rebecca Miller on Behalf of the DC Preservation League

Good morning, Chairman Mendelson and members of the Committee of the Whole. My name is Rebecca Miller, Executive Director of the DC Preservation League (DCPL), Washington's citywide nonprofit that for the past 48 years has been dedicated to advocating for the preservation and protection of the historic and built environment of our nation's capital. I am pleased to be here today and thank you for the opportunity to provide testimony on the three nominees for reappointment to the Historic Preservation Review Board (HPRB).

DC's historic preservation law is one of the strongest and most successful ordinances of its kind in the country. The HPRB members' mandate is to implement and maintain the law on behalf of the Mayor through the designation of historic landmarks and districts and the review of development projects affecting historic properties. DCPL testifies before HPRB on a regular basis by providing reviews of major development projects or making presentations on landmark nominations. We don't expect our nominations will always be successful, or our professional advice incorporated into the review of projects. However, we – as well as other applicants and members of the public – expect the HPRB to be a high functioning body that understands and appropriately applies the regulations enacted to implement the Historic Landmark and Historic District Protection Act of 1978.

Two sets of regulations govern the make-up of the HPRB: one at the federal level mandating certain professional qualifications be represented to allow participation in the National Register programs and qualify for federal grant money, and the other at the city level requiring representation of the composition of the adult population of the District of Columbia with regard to race, sex, geographic distribution and other demographic characteristics, to be met with members who only need have a "demonstrated interest in historic preservation."

As we noted at the 2018 HPRB Nomination hearing, at present there are no members of the Board from Wards 1, 5 and 7. There are, however, three board members from Ward 4, an area of the city that is home to two residential historic districts with fewer than 200 contributing buildings. Ward 1 has more than 3500 contributing buildings in historic districts, Kingman Park in Ward 7 (517 contributing buildings), and Bloomingdale (1697 contributing buildings) in Ward 5...yet none of these Wards are represented on the Board. Geographic diversity is important for communities to feel that their views are taken into account when decisions are being made about their properties or neighborhoods.

DCPL has expressed its concern to both your office and the Historic Preservation Office (HPO) regarding statements by two of today's nominees - Mr. Landis and Ms. Greene. These members have during their past two-and-a-half-year tenures substituted personal criteria for those specified in the law and regulations when making designation decisions and reviewing projects. These types of statements could potentially invite legal challenges in the future. In addition, Mr. Landis on a number of occasions has expressed the opinion that the act of landmark designation is a government "taking." The 1978 Supreme Court decision Penn Transportation Company vs. New York City set the precedent that landmark regulations do not interfere with present use or prevent an owner from realizing a reasonable rate of return on an investment. This is settled case law, and offers no exception for developers, homeowners, nonprofits, etc. In addition, owner objection does not prevent designation under the DC Preservation Act regulations.

Attached to this testimony is a matrix that includes some statements made by both Ms. Greene and Mr. Landis showing where they have inserted personal opinions that are contrary to the standards for decisions to be made under the Historic Preservation Act Regulations.

Finally, we would like to discuss the Mayor's Office of Talent and Appointments (MOTA.) At the March Membership Meeting of the Committee of 100, Director Steve Walker presented the process and procedures for appointments. DCPL pressed Mr. Walker on MOTA's engagement with HPO, and he asserted that he had met with Steve Callcott, Deputy State Historic Preservation Officer regarding the reappointments before you today. Mr. Callcott met with Mr. Walker's office when these individuals were initially nominated in 2016, but no follow up by MOTA took place with regards to performance during this 2019 re-nomination process.

While DCPL supports the reappointment of Mr. Horsey, the organization cannot support the reappointments of Ms. Greene or Mr. Landis. Their demonstrated lack of performance, and the lack of procedural follow-up by MOTA disqualifies these nominees for service on the HPRB. DCPL implores the DC Council to deny approval for the reappointments of Ms. Greene and Mr. Landis. The Mayor should be encouraged to nominate to the HPRB individuals who have a demonstrated interest in Historic Preservation; are from underrepresented Wards with large numbers of protected buildings; and who will follow the mandate of the HPRB as set forth in the Historic Preservation Act.

Historic preservation has a tremendous positive economic and social impact on our city. Residents and others who invest in the city deserve to have a well-functioning, fair board that is well versed in its responsibilities under the Historic Preservation Act.

Thank you for the opportunity to present our concerns and I am happy to answer any questions you or the other members of the committee may have.

GOVERNMENT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
Historic Preservation Review Board

Public Roundtable on
PR23-0165, the “Historic Preservation Review Board
Outerbridge Horsey Confirmation Resolution of 2019”

Testimony of Outerbridge Horsey
Nominee for reappointment to the Historic Preservation Review
Board

Before the Committee of the Whole
Council of the District of Columbia
The Honorable Phil Mendelson, Chairperson

John A. Wilson Building
Room 120
1350 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20004

Good morning Chairman Mendelson and Councilmembers:

My name is Outerbridge Horsey and I am here this morning to testify and to answer any questions regarding my nomination. I would like to thank you Chairman Mendelson and other members of the Committee for taking the time out to allow me to sit before you all today. I would also like to thank Mayor Bowser for re-nominating me as a public member on the Historic Preservation Review Board.

I was born in Washington, DC, at the Colombia Hospital for Women, a building that has since been repurposed as multi-family condominium building. Though DC was always home and my family maintained a house here, I grew up overseas as the child of a US Foreign Service Officer, living in Japan, Italy and Czechoslovakia. This background no doubt contributed to my later interest in architecture and also gave me an appreciation for different cultures and historical styles. I attended the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia and received a B.A. in the Design of the Environment and minor in Classics and Archaeology. After graduation I returned to DC to work for a year as a gardener, as a draftsman in a solar energy firm, and I also took classes at the Corcoran School of Art. A year later, I returned to Penn and earned a Master of Architecture degree from the Graduate School of Fine Arts. After working for a year in Philadelphia I returned to DC where I worked for two firms, Metcalf and Associates and Hartman Cox Architects before becoming licensed as an architect and starting my own firm in 1988. My wife Georgina Owen and I were married in 1992 and have lived in the Georgetown Historic District for many years.

I am the principal of Outerbridge Horsey Associates, PLLC, a design firm providing architectural services to residential, institutional and commercial clients. The firm is a DC Certified Business Enterprise as a Small Business, a Resident Owned Business, and a Local Business. Many of the firm's projects have been directly associated with historic buildings and contexts including the Georgetown University Alumni House, the Volta Bureau, the DuPont Renaissance Condominiums, and Dumbarton House Museum, as well as award winning residential projects, Myrtle Grove, in Talbot County, Maryland and 40 Division Street in Newport, Rhode Island. Together with two other partners in 1992, I produced the Map of Georgetown, a 4-color offset-lithograph, limited edition print, which was hand drawn using aerial photographs and which highlights the eleven National Historic Landmarks in Georgetown.

In addition to my career as an architect in DC, I have made numerous contributions in public service as the first President of the Board of Directors of the Georgetown Ministry Center, a non-profit group dedicated to serving the homeless in and around Georgetown. The GMC has gone on to become a very successful organization and serves as a model for other neighborhoods. I also served on the Hurt Home Advisory Board for emotionally disturbed DC youths for several years in the early 1990's. I was a co-founder of Trees for Georgetown, a very successful volunteer group which planted street trees at a time when there were no government funds available for planting trees (unlike now). At an earlier time in my life during a summer as a college student I served as a supervisor in the Washington, DC Mayor's Youth Garden Program. I have been active for many years in the Citizens Association of Georgetown serving on the Board and as a member of its Historic Preservation and Zoning Committee. For the past 5 years I have been a trustee of the Foundation for the Preservation of Historic Georgetown, which holds over 100 open space conservation and historic façade easements. I currently also serve as the first vice-president of the Washington National Monument Association

With regards to the Historic Preservation Review Board, it has been my honor and pleasure to serve on the HPRB since December 2016. As stated in my resume, I meet the Secretary of the Interior's Historic Preservation Professional Qualification Standards for Historic Architecture.

I am familiar with the DC historic preservation law and believe that it provides a detailed and well-reasoned approach to preserving the historic architecture of Washington DC for enjoyment and enrichment of its citizens and visitors while sensibly allowing for an increase in economic development and expansion of construction to allow for services, and more housing to attract and to provide for a growing population. I believe it also sensibly provides for financial assistance where justified by economic hardship to those properties and the owners thereof who are in the need of receiving it.

Over my career as an architect, I have worked in numerous DC historic districts and have interacted with many of the staff members of the Historic Preservation Office. I have always been impressed by the depth of their knowledge of the historic districts in DC, and their commitment to ensuring thoughtful planning and intelligent development of buildings and historic sites in those districts.

I believe the HPRB with its nine members, representing qualified professionals in history, architectural history, archaeology and architecture, and citizen members, comprises an exceptionally well-balanced yet diverse group that can work together to achieve a consensus with respect determining that a project is consistent with the Act and serves the public interest. I have enjoyed working with the Chairman and my colleagues on the Board to achieve these goals and I look forward to continuing to do so.

I have visited all of the historic districts in DC. I believe I know them sufficiently to realize that they represent a broad range of architectural styles and with their social and demographic diversity they make a tremendous contribution to the richness and beauty of DC.

Thank you again for allowing me to testify and I will be happy to answer any questions that you may have.

March 14, 2019

The Honorable Phil Mendelson, Chairman
Council of the District of Columbia
1350 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Suite 504
Washington, DC 20004

Chairman Mendelson:

We are writing today on behalf of the DC Preservation League (DCPL) and The Committee of 100 on the Federal City (C10) regarding the future appointments to the Historic Preservation Review Board (HPRB).

As you know, the HPRB was organized in 1983 under the authority established in the Historic Landmark and Historic Districts Protection Act of 1978, and is the official body of advisors appointed by the Mayor to guide the government and public on preservation matters in the District. In order for HPRB to adequately serve the District and support the mission of the historic preservation office, members of the board are expected to have a working knowledge of the Preservation Act, its regulations, and an understanding of the Secretary of Interior Standards for Evaluation of Historic Properties. Although DCPL and C100 are pleased that in recent years the board members have been receiving training on these standards and other aspects of their responsibilities on HPRB, some board members still reflect no working knowledge and indeed little interest in the regulations enacted along with the 40-year-old Preservation Act.

DCPL and C100 are concerned that statements by certain HPRB members suggest that they are substituting personal criteria for those specified in the law and regulations when making designation decisions and reviewing projects, which could invite legal challenges. In addition, members have made comments that the act of landmark designation is a government "taking." Precedent set in the Penn Central case asserts that preservation laws do not interfere with an owners' present use or prevent it from realizing a reasonable rate of return on its investment.

Two members of the HPRB that have shown little regard for the preservation regulations are Mr. Chris Landis and Ms. Linda Greene. Both members' appointed terms end July 21, 2019. We ask that you discuss these appointments with Mayor Bowser and encourage nomination of new members who have a demonstrated interest in Historic Preservation, as set forth in the HPRB regulations. We have included an attachment that includes statements made by these two board members that are contrary to the regulations set forth under the Preservation Act.

In the past, both DCPL and C100 have made recommendations to the Mayor's Office on Talent and Appointments. These recommendations have not borne much fruit however. Please let us know if you would like us to send you a list of qualified and supportable candidates.

Historic preservation has a tremendous positive economic and social impact on our city. Residents and others who invest in the city deserve to have a well-functioning, fair board that is well versed in its responsibilities under the Historic Preservation Act.
