

Attendance and Discipline Report SY 2018-19

Summary

Each year, DC PCSB works with public charter local education agencies to track student attendance and disciplinary measures pursuant to the reporting requirements outlined in DC Code § 38-203(i). These measures are significant indicators of the quality learning environments public charter schools provide and the atmosphere students experience. The following report outlines trends in suspensions, expulsions, truancy, and attendance for the 2018-19 school year.

For the sixth straight year, the percentage of students receiving an out of school suspension continues to decline to a new low of 6.2%. The rate is almost a percent lower than last year and half of what it was in school year (SY) 2012-13. Additionally, public charter schools saw the percentage of instruction time lost to out of school suspensions drop to 0.15%, down from 0.41% five years ago. This means that at a school with 500 students, fewer than one student would be out of school for a suspension on any given day. Notably, there were 13 audited students (0.03%) who received a suspension that lasted 11 or more days, which is down significantly from 60 audited students (0.14%) in SY 2017-18.

The percent of students expelled increased slightly from 0.15% to 0.17%. This translates to 74 students, or nine more than last year, being expelled from public charter schools. The rate is a fraction of the 165 students expelled in school year 2012-13, when we first started capturing these data.

In-seat attendance, which measures attendance accounting for both excused and unexcused absences, increased by 0.1%, to 91.7%, and the sector's truancy rate rose from 24.5% to 26.8%. While we are pleased that the in-seat attendance rate rose, we share your disappointment that the truancy rate continues to rise. In 2016-17, District policy mandated that schools could not accept excuse notes more than five days following an absence. While this does not fully explain why truancy rates increased from 17-18 to 18-19, we continue to hear school feedback about the difficulty of this rule. Over the coming months, we will continue to hold our annual School Climate Brunch to help schools understand the data, the root causes of their challenges, and share best practices in overcoming those challenges. The Everyday Counts! Taskforce will play an integral role in that work, as well as our partners Stand Up Shout Out and Parent and Adolescent Support Services.

The public charter school sector continues to focus efforts on ensuring students are attending school every day and growing academically. Across both sectors, schools show a commitment to improving attendance and truancy through a variety of approaches consistent with their philosophy. Schools continue to seek out different and innovative ways to ensure in-seat attendance improves.

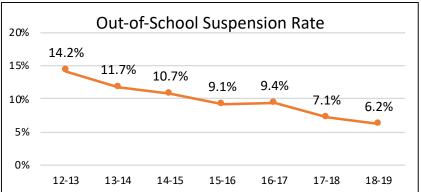

Full details on the charter sector's data from school year (SY) 2018-19 can be found below.

2018-19 DC PUBLIC CHARTER SCHOOL DISCIPLINE AND ATTENDANCE BRIEFING

Longitudinal Analysis of Charter Sector Trends

DC PCSB's goal is to encourage public charter schools to create and implement effective discipline policies and increase students' time in school.

Key Takeaways: School Year 2018-19

Several key indicators of attendance and discipline improved in SY 2018-19, though Expulsions and Truancy both increased.

- Enrollment: ↑ by 1.3%

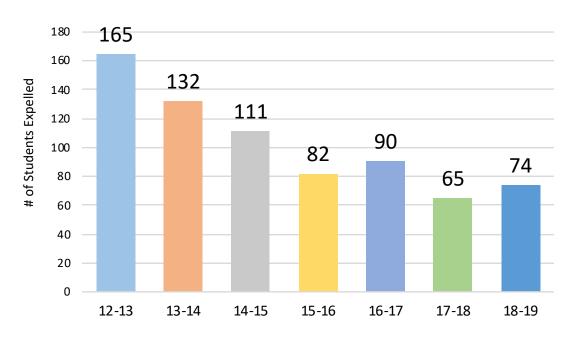

- Expulsions: ↑ from 0.15% to 0.17%
- In Seat Attendance: ↑ from 91.6% to 91.7%
- Truancy: ↑ from 24.5% to 26.8%

*Chronic Absenteeism is defined as the proportion of students enrolled in grades K-12 who have missed 10% or more of their instructional days due to excused or unexcused absences

Expulsion Over Time (PK*—Adult)

Number of Audited Students Expelled

Expulsion rate has cut in half since SY12-13 and remains within national norms

*Note: Since 2015-16, no PK students have been expelled

In SY 2018-19 there were 13 audited students (0.03%) who received a suspension which lasted 11 or more days, compared to 60 audited students (0.14%) in SY 2017-18.

DC PCSB's Role in Addressing Discipline

- DC PCSB assesses discipline policies when new applicant groups apply for a charter
- DC PCSB's Enrollment Ceiling Increase Policy includes two indicators on exclusionary discipline
- When schools are up for charter review, we work with the schools on revising charter goals, which may include goals around discipline
- Schools' discipline policies are posted on DC PCSB's website. All must have the following:
  - Clear explanation of infractions, consequences and due process
  - Explanation of disciplinary steps for students with disabilities
- We analyze discipline data each month to look for trends and alert schools when they are discipline rate outliers.

Attendance Rates Over Time

In-Seat Attendance (Excluding Adult Campuses)

Note: OSSE has not yet released the final, validated 2018-19 attendance rates; therefore, attendance rates presented here may change slightly between the release of this report and Fall 2019.

Truancy Rate: Percent of students ages 5-17 with 10+ unexcused absences

SY 2018-19 Charter Sector Rate: 26.8% (up from 24.5%* in SY 2017-18)

- The DC PCSB Truancy Policy seeks to reduce absenteeism by encouraging schools to focus on strategies to improve attendance.
- Two schools received a Truancy Notice of Concern in SY 2018-19.
- The Policy compels schools and DC PCSB staff to track improvement in attendance at the school and student level.

*Prior to 2016-17, schools' individual attendance policies set the period of time following an absence in which excuse notes could be accepted. In 2016-17, District policy mandated that schools could not accept excuse notes more than 5 days following an absence. While this does not explain why rates went up from 17-18 to 18-19, we continue to hear school feedback about the difficulty of this rule.

Our Role in Improving Attendance & Discipline

- For SY 2019-20, DC PCSB will continue to work with OSSE and charter LEAs to streamline the process for collecting and reporting truancy and discipline data.
- Through transparency, we encourage schools to adopt and improve on best practices, which increase instructional time.
   DC PCSB provides a series of dashboards that charter schools may use to view their monthly attendance and discipline data, by grade band and/or student subgroup, as well as comparable charter sector data.

REFERRALS AND BARRIERS TO ATTENDANCE

Court Social Services and Child and Family Services Agency (CFSA) Referrals (Self-Reported Data)

The number of minors (age 5-13) referred for truancy to CFSA

1,399 students referred

The number of minors (age 14-17) referred for truancy to the Court Social Services

318 students referred

Barriers to Attendance (Self-Reported Data)

Number of students who met with a Student Support Team (SST), or its equivalent, for attendance purposes

4,654 students met with an SST (average of 41 per campus)

Summary of strategies implemented by the SSTs (varies by school)

- Calls, letters, and texts home
- Home visits
- Increased attendance data sharing with staff and families
- Transportation assistance
- Wake-up calls or providing alarm clocks
- Credit recovery and/or flexible scheduling
- Free or reduced before/after-school care
- Incentives (for teachers and for students)
- Counseling
- Providing clothing or school supplies
- Health interventions

Barriers to Attendance (Self-Reported Data)

Summary of the services used by students to reduce unexcused absences (varies by school)

- Kids Ride Free / Carpooling / Other transportation assistance
- Vouchers for childcare
- School-based support networks (mentoring, homework clubs)
- Communication apps (such as Remind)

Summary of the common barriers to implementing the recommendations of the SST (varies by school)

- Housing instability
- Challenges with public transportation, traffic, and parking
- Low parental engagement, particularly for early childhood programs
- Pregnancy / lack of access to childcare
- Unmet physical or mental health needs (of the student or a family member)
- Parent or student work schedule
- Slow follow-up from outside organizations once a referral is made
- Incarceration
- Extended trips to home countries
